COLLECTIVE IMPACT

2015 - 2016
ANNUAL REPORT
CCADV is the state’s leading voice for victims of domestic violence and those organizations that serve them. Together with you, our friends, supporters and partners, we are best positioned to facilitate the change needed to prevent domestic violence and improve outcomes for victims.
Dear Friends & Supporters,

As we look back over the past two years, our ongoing work to prevent domestic violence and improve outcomes for victims has been both demanding and rewarding. The staff and board of Connecticut Coalition Against Domestic Violence (CCADV), along with our 18 member organizations, have worked collectively to examine the existing needs of those we serve, identify strengths and challenges within our current system, and determine how we can best align resources to meet the complex needs of all victims.

A key element of this work has been a statewide needs assessment conducted during these reporting years. The report, An Analysis of Service Utilization and Perceptions from the Field, provides CCADV and our partners with critical information on domestic violence service provision in Connecticut that identifies trends and emerging needs. Data gathered from the needs assessment shows that Connecticut domestic violence shelters are today consistently exceeding capacity at 125% compared to running at just 57% capacity in 2008. A significant driver of this increase is the length of time victims are staying in shelter – 37 days in 2013 compared to 26 days in 2008 (the time period captured by needs assessment), with 2016 updates demonstrating a 46 day average length of stay for victims.

The results of the needs assessment coupled with reductions in state funding have driven CCADV to fortify our strategic planning efforts to ensure responsive, deliberate approaches to serving victims. In October 2015, with support from the Ensworth Charitable Foundation, our staff, board and members gathered to endeavor into this strategic planning process. As a result, we plan to maximize unique and aligned relationships that positively impact our core competencies around technical assistance, education and policy development. We also aim to identify and pursue opportunities that strengthen our organizational infrastructure and offer quality responses for victims in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Our staff has continued to offer work that positions CCADV has the state’s leading domestic violence expert in a number of arenas. Some highlights of our 2015 and 2016 successes that you’ll learn about in this report include:

- Successfully launching our new Health Professional Outreach Project designed to strengthen screening and referrals by Connecticut health providers.
- Redesigning td411, our teen dating violence awareness mobile app that delivers critical information to teens and youth in a manner that is relevant to them.
- Expanding our presence on college campuses to provide training, technical assistance, and policy development that allows institutions to properly meet the needs of victims and survivors.
- Strengthening Connecticut’s laws to help protect victims at the most dangerous times.
- Building strategic partnerships, including one with Connecticut Children’s Medical Center that led to the creation of The Children’s Center on Family Violence, a collaboration that will respond to and reduce the number of children impacted by family violence.

This report captures our work during fiscal years 2015 (July 1, 2014 – June 30, 2015) and 2016 (July 1, 2015 – June 30, 2016). While we have faced many challenges throughout this period, we have also experienced success that has come as a result of strong partnerships and collaborations with people and organizations like you. Together we will be best positioned to advance our work to address the emerging needs of individuals experiencing interpersonal violence.

We thank you for your ongoing support and look forward to continuing this important work together.

Sincerely,

Karen Jarmoc, MA

CCADV ENVISIONS BEING THE STATE’S LEADING AUTHORITY AND KEY AGENT OF CHANGE FOR ORGANIZATIONS AND SYSTEMS THAT SERVE VICTIMS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE.
A continuing challenge facing Connecticut’s domestic violence service system is the increasing utilization rate. In 2014, CCADV engaged the CT Women’s Education and Legal Fund (CWEALF) to study statewide service utilization data. CWEALF staff examined data going back to 2008 related to shelter and service provision offered through the 18 funded domestic violence agencies in Connecticut; analyzed data from a survey administered to the agency Executive Directors; and, convened 12 focus groups.

Study results, which were published in February 2015, coupled with ongoing data evaluation suggest that the provision of shelter services had changed since 2008, with shelters typically running at or over capacity. A major factor impacting capacity was the increase in the average length of time that a victim remained in shelter. At the time of the study, the average length of stay was found to be 37 days in 2013 compared to 26 days in 2008. In 2016, the average length in stay rose to 46, a 77% increase in 8 years. Insufficient long-term housing options for victims mean that agencies are compelled to keep them in emergency shelters as they wait for more appropriate placements. Shelter managers suggest that the lack of affordable housing, trauma and immigration may be contributing to shelters being, and staying, at or above capacity.

In fiscal year 2016, our 18 member domestic violence organizations provided services to 39,661 victims across Connecticut, including 33,734 adults & 5,927 children.

1 in 17 victims was housed in emergency shelter.

Included in the 2,325 victims of domestic violence housed in emergency shelter were 1,031 children, 69% were 6 years old or younger.

More victims are staying longer.

Meeting the emergency housing needs of victims continues to be a challenge.

Shelter utilization increased 119% over the past 8 years.

Average length of stay in emergency shelter is 46 days, up 77% in 8 years.

Victims request help for more acute, complex problems.

High-risk pregnancies and other serious medical conditions, such as cancer, require additional supports and limit timely transitions.

Reduced community services for mental health and substance abuse results in fewer recovery options and longer shelter stays.

93,633 hours of one-on-one counseling provided to 22,550 victims.

That’s a 15% increase over the previous year, which means domestic violence organizations are providing more services even though funding has been reduced.
The following is a comparison of various statewide domestic violence services provided in fiscal year 2015 and fiscal year 2016.

Training provided by our members to professional, school, and community-based organizations.
Here are just a few of the many initiatives that CCADV led throughout fiscal years 2015 and 2016...

PUBLIC AWARENESS

GOAL: Broaden public awareness about the availability of the statewide English and Spanish domestic violence hotlines to improve access to confidential, safe and free services.

- We developed 2 NEW PUBLIC AWARENESS CAMPAIGNS in English and Spanish that ran STATEWIDE

SOCIAL MEDIA

GOAL: Increase knowledge of teen dating violence and create a conversation about victim blaming by highlighting the challenges and fears that many victims face when trying to end an abusive relationship.

- In 2015, we ran 2 SOCIAL MEDIA CAMPAIGNS during Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month and Domestic Violence Awareness Month that generated a total of >35,000 REACHES/IMPRESSIONS

LETHALITY ASSESSMENT

GOAL: Engage between 45 and 55 additional law enforcement agencies to participate in our innovative partnership with law enforcement through CT’s Lethality Assessment Program (LAP).

- We engaged 51 ADDITIONAL POLICE AGENCIES in LAP during fiscal years 2015 & 2016, bringing the total to 86 AGENCIES or 91% OF CT CITIES & TOWNS utilizing LAP since its inception in 2012.

HEALTH PROFESSIONAL OUTREACH

In FY 2016 CCADV launched a Health Professional Outreach Project (HPO), which provides training and technical assistance related to intimate partner violence (IPV) to healthcare providers across Connecticut.

- We trained 805 HEALTH PROFESSIONALS across 42 PRESENTATIONS

GOAL: Provide training to improve identification and response to IPV through healthcare screening and increase referrals by health professionals to CCADV member organizations.

- REFERRALS from health professionals increased by 184% over the previous year. (166 in FY15 vs. 471 in FY16)
GOAL: Engage youth in a relevant manner to discuss teen dating violence and provide a safe way for them to get information and help.

In February 2015 we re-launched our teen dating violence awareness mobile app, td411. Since then, nearly 500 INDIVIDUALS have downloaded the re-designed app and over 6,300 PRINTED MATERIALS regarding the app have been distributed.

EARNED MEDIA

GOAL: Increase public awareness of and engagement in efforts to prevent domestic violence and improve outcomes for victims through earned media.

During fiscal years 2015 & 2016 we generated more than 150 MEDIA HITS in articles, editorials, op-eds, and broadcasts across EVERY MAJOR NEWS OUTLET IN CT and our CEO, Karen Jarmoc, was a featured domestic violence expert on ESPN multiple times.

COLLEGE CAMPUS PREVENTION

GOAL: Following the release in July 2014 of Intimate Partner Violence Policies on Campus: Best Practices for College Campuses in Connecticut, we aimed to assess college campus policies for effectiveness in meeting the needs of victims of intimate partner violence and provide training and technical assistance to institutions of higher learning.

We trained nearly 400 STUDENTS AND STAFF at various state colleges and universities covering issues such as bystander intervention, technology, stalking, and campus response.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF CHILDREN

Our members served close to 6,000 children in FY 2016, over 1,000 of which stayed in our emergency shelters. And we know that many other service systems and professionals come into contact with thousands more who have witnessed or experienced domestic violence in their homes. A key piece of our work is ensuring that those organizations and professionals are trained on best practices to meet the needs of these children in a trauma-informed manner that fully supports the non-offending parent to nurture and protect that child.

During fiscal years 2015 & 2016 we trained more than 800 PROFESSIONALS including CHILD PROTECTION, HEAD START, EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATORS, GALS, SOCIAL WORKERS, AND HOME VISITORS through various speaking engagements at partner events, trainings and meetings on topics including BUILDING RESILIENCY, SUPPORTIVE FACTORS & TOOLS, AND IMPROVING OUTCOMES.

The Children’s Center on Family Violence

We initiated a new partnership with Connecticut Children’s Medical Center to establish THE CHILDREN’S CENTER ON FAMILY VIOLENCE. With the official launch set for late 2016, The Center will seek to improve outcomes for children exposed to family violence through a trauma-informed, multi-disciplinary, multiagency approach involving CLINICAL CARE, RESEARCH & EVALUATION, EDUCATION & TRAINING AND PUBLIC POLICY & ADVOCACY.
CCADV and our member organizations advocated at both the state- and federal-levels for comprehensive policies that protect victims and hold offenders accountable for their actions. Below are a few highlights of our legislative efforts during fiscal years 2015 and 2016. You can also read our complete summaries for the 2015 Legislative Session and the 2016 Legislative Session.

CHILDREN EXPOSED TO FAMILY VIOLENCE – CCADV advocated for and later co-chaired the legislative-created Task Force to Study the Statewide Response to Minors Exposed to Family Violence, established in 2015. The task force recommendations, which were submitted to the General Assembly in January 2016, had several common themes including: identification of children exposed to family violence through targeted screening and assessment; enhanced training and education for both professionals and the general public; and collaboration between multiple systems to facilitate connection and access to intervention services. The Task Force identified opportunities and strategies for Connecticut to emerge as a national leader in its handling of children exposed to family violence.

PROTECTING VICTIMS AT THE MOST DANGEROUS TIME – Following two sessions of diligent advocacy, CCADV and our member organizations gained the successful passage in May 2016 of a new law that requires firearms to be temporarily surrendered during ex parte restraining orders. This brought Connecticut in line with best practices established in 20 other states. This new law will better protect victims at the most dangerous time – when they are seeking to end an abusive relationship – from the single most commonly used weapon to kill victims of domestic violence in Connecticut (firearms).

ADVOCATING FOR FEDERAL POLICY CHANGES...CCADV's chief executive officer, Karen Jarmoc, has worked with each member of Connecticut's federal delegation on a number of critical national issues impacting victims. As a member of the National Network to End Domestic Violence Public Policy Committee and national IPV Prevention Council, she visits Washington, DC regularly to advocate on a number of issues. During fiscal years 2015 and 2016, she advocated on:

- Federal Funding to Support Survivors
- Victims of Crime Act
- Transitional Housing
- Family Violence Prevention & Services Act
- Violence Against Women Act
- US Deps. of Housing and Health & Human Services confidentiality policies

CCADV PROVIDED DETAILED TESTIMONY TO THE CT GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON MORE THAN 30 BILLS DURING FISCAL YEARS 2015 AND 2016.
CCADV’s Training Institute is an important focus of our work. Building on over 30 years of experience, the Institute serves to support and strengthen individuals and organizations who are working to assist those impacted by domestic violence in Connecticut. Our trainings are based on the best and most promising practices that are grounded in trauma-informed advocacy and build community awareness and individual capacity to increase victim safety and offender accountability. Check out our FY15 and FY16 training stats and major trainings and presentations below!

| [FY 2015] | 81 TRAININGS | 2,304 ATTENDEES | 53 NEWLY CERTIFIED COUNSELORS | 685 POLICE ATTENDEES |

During fiscal years 2015 and 2016, CCADV was funded in part by the following federal entities:

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, OFFICE ON VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN (OVW)
- Grants to Encourage Arrest Policies (GTEAP)
- Services, Training, Officers, Prosecutors (STOP) Grant
- State Domestic Violence Coalition Grant
- Violence Against Women Act (VAWA)

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME (OVC)
- Victims of Crime Act (VOCA)

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH & HUMAN SERVICES, ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN & FAMILIES
- Family Violence Prevention & Services Act (FVPSA)

During fiscal years 2015 and 2016, CCADV was also funded (including federal pass-through, state match funds and direct state funds) in part by the following state entities:

CT DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SERVICES (DSS)
CT JUDICIAL BRANCH, OFFICE OF VICTIM SERVICES (OVS)
CT OFFICE OF POLICY & MANAGEMENT (OPM)
CT DEPARTMENT OF CHILDREN & FAMILIES (DCF)

CCADV conducts an audit annually in accordance with the US Office of Management and Budget Circular A-133 and the CT Office of Policy and Management State Single Audit (C.G.S. § 4-231).

We would also like to thank the committed individuals, businesses and organizations that generously donated funding or sponsored events. Our state has averaged 14 intimate partner homicides annually over the past decade with few of those victims ever having availed themselves of services prior to their deaths. The generosity of donors and sponsors directly impacts our awareness efforts to ensure that every victim of domestic violence knows where to turn for help.
